RESUMEN DEL PROYECTO

Objective:

Wider Objective: Development and enhancement of lifelong learning in Belarus with effective use of distance learning and Bologna instruments for the development of the regional labour market.

Specific Objectives:

- to develop a Lifelong Learning inter-University cooperation in the regions in Belarus, based on integrating the 6 leading regional Universities in the field of distance learning into an Inter-University Network for Lifelong Learning (ILN);
- to train the Institutes for Continuous Education's managerial and teaching staff for the Inter-University Network for LLL according to the principles of the Bologna process using the best practices at the European partner Universities;
- to choose specific themes for the 5 new on-line or blended LLL study courses in English, IT, Entrepreneurship, Financial Literacy and Law literacy through meetings with the public, enterprises and local authorities to best suit the needs and demands of the regional communities;

- to design, develop and pilot the 5 new on-line (or blended) Moodle-based LLL study courses to the general public;

The objectives set out for the project correlate with the foreseen results and fully correspond to the National priority for Erasmus+ CBHE projects in Belarus which is "Lifelong Learning and Continuing Education" since the work planned and the results envisaged hit the needs of the regional communities in Belarus that recently has faced a major problem of slow development of the 6 regions. The most active Universities in the 6 regions will respond to the need by establishing the ILN network in Belarus for efficient provision of distance education to respect and provide easy and free access to education to a wider public. The study courses will be approved by the University authorities after the pilot stage and later by the National Accreditation Agency (2 years after launch according to the BY legislation). The LLL students successfully graduated the courses will get certificates with study supplements. This in the long run will enhance better chances of employability of the regions' population and the development of the labour market and economy in the 6 regions concerned.

Expected results and dissemination:

The project results - study materials, 5 new LLL courses on-line and blended, and the Inter-University Network (ILN) will be the objects of exploitation. A set of means will be used for this purpose: co-teaching by all the partners in EU and BY on the courses; learning reflections, evaluations by staff and students; and training of trainers.

Dissemination will be arranged internally and externally. Internally, after internships and trainings, and launch of the pilot LLL courses BY partners will hold seminars with presentations, discussions, and training to inform and involve other staff. Externally a Dissemination Seminar will be held to inform Regional Authorities and wider public about the project at each BY partner. Project Brochure No. 1 will be published by the Editorial Group.

Several months before the pilot courses are launched, there will be an Information Day for the Regional Authorities (incl. Employment Centres), enterprises, other Universities in the regions, and wider public to enhance visibility of the LLL study courses. Information Leaflet No.1 will be published by the Editorial Group for the both events. The ILN network will make adverts in social media (Facebook, VKontakte, and Odnoklassniki) on their ILN Pages.

In the start of the project RTA will design, develop, and maintain the project web-site, aimed at internal and external audience, where information in BY and ENG languages will be publicised: (1) on the project; (2)partners; (3) main results achieved; (4) news.

At the end of the project, there will be a Final Dissemination Conference in Polotsk. A wide range of participants will be invited (Ministry, partners, other BY Universities, media). Project Brochure No. 2 about the project's results will be published by the Editorial Group for the Conference. After the follow-up stage Information Leaflet No. 2 for potential LLL students will be published by the Editorial Group. Two leaflets and 2 brochures will also be created for electronic distribution by e-mails and advertising via the Social Media mentioned above.
