What do we do?

Taking the social responsibility of the UCA with respect to the environment and in the attempt to achieve a fully sustainable university model, the lines of action in which we work in the Office for Sustainability are the following:

- Education, training and environmental awareness.
- Participation and promotion of Environmental Volunteering.
- Environmental Information and Communication.

These lines of action are based on the principle of the United Nations Assembly (2002), endorsed by CRUE Spanish Universities (2005):

"The university community, in accordance with its commitment to sustainability in the pursuit of environmental quality, social justice and a viable and equitable economy, considers that the generation of a culture that contributes to an integral human development and environmentally sustainable "

What do we do?

The Sustainability Promotion Plan organically integrates all the components of sustainability (economic, social and environmental) in the substantive functions of the university to strengthen the performance of its academic programs and its social projection, based on a broad and committed participation of the university community as a whole.

Said plan is made up of a set of actions framed within several thematic areas of action that work in an interrelated and complementary manner with each other, in such a way that they drive and promote actions that materialize the environmental commitment of our university.

What do we work on?

CLIMATE CHANGE

As the University of Cádiz has been demonstrating with its commitment to the 2030 Agenda and therefore to climate change, we continue to advance as dynamic agents of change, being aware of the decisive role that we play in the achievement of SDG13 "Climate Action" by confronting the collective construction of a Climate Action Plan, through the participatory project "Declaring ourselves in Climate Emergency".

It will be a driving force, headed by the Office for Sustainability with the participation of the university community, student organizations for the climate and in collaboration with civil organizations such as Fridays for Future, Extinction Rebellion and Ecologistas en Acción Andalucía, responsible for promoting a process of participation and collective creation based on participatory action research (PAR) leading to the development of said plan.

Some of the actions aligned with the fight to stop Climate Change:

- Environmental Campaign on Change of Habits to stop Climate Change Do you accept the Challenge?
- Environmental Training Seminars on Climate Change.
- Project to calculate the Carbon Footprint of the university
- Earth Hour.
